

Corporate Event
Course Dressing

Introduction to Tacit

Corporate golf days are a fantastic way to cement the bond between an organisation and its customers. They are a lot of fun and a very cost effective way of generating good will.

If done well they can also serve a second purpose; to change the perception of new and existing customers. This is a time when your guests are most receptive to your organisation's brand. Dressing the course with branded signs and materials allows you to take advantage of this.

Branding the course is straightforward and needn't be expensive. It will ensure your organisation appears impressive and professional.

Tacit are experts in course dressing. They can produce all the materials required and can design a package that meets your requirements and suits your budget. Just get in touch with the golf team and it is all taken care of, allowing you to focus on your game.

So if its a tour event or just a low key afternoon with a regular society or anything in between, just call the golf team and we'll ensure your guests are left with a lasting impression.
